Scholarship for Doctoral Students in the Academic Year 2021 (Starting from October)
(2021年度 大学院博士課程後期学生奨学金の募集について(10月募集))

Dear

Junichi Kato, Dean, AdSM

AdSM offers a financial support system which provides superior doctoral students with scholarships to reduce their economic burden, so that they can continue their study at doctoral course and devote themselves to their research.

1. Eligibility

Applicants must be AdSM doctoral students who satisfy 2. Application Qualification in October 2021. (in principle, excluding students who are enrolled more than 3 years)

Applicants must not receive any scholarship of 100,000 yen or more per month (not counting scholarships with obligation of restitution) from government or any other organization, association, etc.

2. Application Qualification

Applicants must be outstanding and superior in their academic and research performance and have difficulties in continuing to study due to economic reasons. They should be either of the following a., b. or c.:

- a. Students who have applied for JSPS Research Fellowship for Young Scientists (DC2) of the FY2021
- b. International students and students with careers.
- c. Students who are expected to be a privately-financed international student in October 2021 due to termination of the period of Japanese Government Scholarship by the MEXT Super Global University Project.

3. Amount and Period of the Scholarship

- 1) Monthly stipend: 50,000 yen
