A large-scale illustration of the letters 'O' and 'Y' on a set of horizontal handwriting lines. The letter 'O' is formed with a single, thick, continuous stroke, featuring a small loop at the top and a tail that curves back to the starting point. The letter 'Y' is formed with two thick strokes: a diagonal stroke from the top left to the middle, and another diagonal stroke from the top right to the middle, meeting at a point, with a vertical stroke extending downwards from the junction. Both letters are rendered in a bold, black, sans-serif style.
