I am a lecturer at Beihang University and teach the Japanese language. What I learned at Hiroshima University helped me become a good teacher. I try to introduce a better way to teach Japanese as a second language to Chinese learners. HU is the most suitable place to study. Why don't you come to HU and start your journey of discovery from here?

At Hiroshima University, I studied about mathematics education as a big theme. My professors and my lab mates shared me some important research findings of their interested research area. Those area of studies become background of my knowledge to push me forward when I return home country. To those who are considering to study in Japan, I personally really recommend you to study at Hiroshima University.

Hiroshima University, as one of Japan's leading universities in education, gave me that wonderful opportunity by providing the course available in English. As a Muslim, I am thankful that Hiroshima University has prayer rooms and also serves halal food in the cafeterias.
