4 Eligibility

The applicant must meet all of the following requirements. It is also necessary that the applicant can fulfill all of the following requirements at the time of selection.

(1) The applicant must be a Next-Generation Fellow at the time of application and at the time of commencement of study abroad.

(2) The start date of study abroad must be in FY2023 (It is acceptable for the dispatch period to continue into the next year).

(3) If you are going to study abroad in the future, you must have had sufficient discussions with your academic advisor and the host institution (Letter of Intent to Accept Prospective Fellow by Host Researcher must be submitted).

(4) The student must not be receiving financial support for study abroad from other programs (however, it is possible to apply for support providing that the student is not receiving support for the same expenses from other programs. For example, if you are receiving support only for transportation expenses under another program, it is possible to receive support for only accommodation and study abroad insurance under this program.)

OIST

5.Host Institution

Support for study abroad at world-class research institutions (including private research institutes) is available.

While overseas research institutions are especially encouraged, it is also possible to apply to top-level research institutions in Japan (e.g., RIKEN, Okinawa Institute of Science and Technology Graduate University (OIST), etc.).
